CLUBS MUSIC WOMEN'S WORK

GREAT RICHES.

Wealth is not measured by stacks of gold.
Got by some ignoble deed,
There's many a pleasure to behold
By helping a friend in need.
A kindly word or a kindly thought
By some other than yourself
Has many a ray of sunshine brought
For doing kind deeds is wealth.
Give me my home and the comforts
there
After my day's work is done,
With children playing around my chair—
All loving me, every one,
And I will have what money can't buy.
I will have riches untold,
For I will have wealth without the gold.
Not purchased by stacks of gold,
In love and contentment, peace and health,
We behold great riches rare
For if we have these we have great wealth.
With which gold cannot compare.
For all that glitters may not be gain—
Many men their lives have sold
Just for yellow metal to attain;
All wealth is not made of gold.
By H. Dorsey.
